This Is Indicated by the Fact That Germans Make No Claim to Taking Booty or Capturing Artillery—Bombardment on City of Belgrade Is Resumed.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—The report of George P. West and C. P. Cheney, who investigated the July, 1915, strike of the Standard Oil company employees at Bayonne, N. J., for the United States commission on industrial relations, was made public tonight by Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the commission. The report said in part, after stating that the strike was against the Standard Oil company of New Jersey:

"The company is the most important of the Standard Oil group and this group is the principal contributor to the wealth, prestige and power of the largest estate in the country, if not the world, that of Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Sr., and that of his immediate family. The facts regarding the company's labor policies must therefore be regarded as of special significance because of the tremendous power wielded by the group of men who control this industry and because of their announced intention to enter the field of industrial relations with a view to widening their influence and activity propagating what they deem to be the proper theories and principles that should govern the relations between employer and employee. The following findings of fact are to be considered in the light of the foregoing:

"The Standard Oil company of New Jersey, although conducting an enormously profitable enterprise, pays wages too low to maintain a family on a comfortable, healthful basis.

"It fixes wages not with relation to the earnings of the company, but by taking into consideration wages paid by other companies in the same locality and then fixing the wage as low as or lower than the prevailing wage in that locality. In Bayonne, the common laborers less than those of two companies whose plants adjoin its refineries. This is in direct contradiction to the claims of the company in a statement issued at the time that it has always paid the prevailing wage or better.

Won't Deal With Labor Unions.

"The company maintains a settled policy of refusing to deal with any labor organization or professional labor men, and even refuses to permit employees who cannot speak English intelligently to engage an attorney as their spokesman and representative."

Developing this last point further in the report it was stated that Paul Siskind, a Jersey City attorney, visited General Superintendent Hennessy of the company as spokesman for a committee of six employees who had hired him to negotiate for them. Hennessy further stated that Mr. Hennessy, acting in conjunction with Mr. Gifford, general manager of the company, refused point blank to consider the demands and expressed indignation that they move against the company a non-employee of the company to aid them in presenting their grievances.

"General Manager Gifford is not a believer in child labor legislation and on the other hand thinks children should be allowed to go to work earlier. He and Mr. Hennessy apparently have little respect for the foreign-born men whose labor produces the company's earnings and are proponents of the extremely individualistic and reactionary industrial theories discarded by enlightened employers and by economists many years ago."

The report then recited that the company employed a detective agency of New York City to furnish guards and strike-breakers. It quoted the attorney for the agency as referring to these men as "a lot of thugs." The investigators added "their appearance amply justified his use of the term."

"The strike was broken by Sheriff Eugene Kinkaid," the report stated, "who first overawed and disorganized the strikers by assaulting and arresting one of their leaders and then strengthened his control over them by promising to use his influence to obtain an increase in wages and by arresting thirty of the armed guards. In another section of the report it was stated that the sheriff's alleged assault was upon "a young Elizabeth City socialist by the name of Jeremiah Bally."

The report added that the sheriff had suggested Bally as a member of the strike committee and when the men who went to the plant to draw back pay insisted that Bally should go with them, they further stated in the report that Bally, not being an employee of the company, refused to go to the plant and that the sheriff first "beat him viciously," and then arrested him.

"The sheriff's course had the cordial approval of the Standard Oil company officials, who were thus able to maintain their refusal to make any concessions to the men until the men returned to work and had in effect thrown themselves on the bounty of the company," continued the report.

"Two days after the men had returned to work the Standard Oil company announced increases in wages. These increases were less than those demanded by the strikers and the rates now being paid are still below those paid by one of the other companies adjoining the Standard Oil company's plant, if the common labor rate can be taken as a basis of comparison."

"The outcome of the strike constitutes a complete victory for the Standard Oil company as to its vital policies, that is, its refusal to recognize or permit collective action or to make any concession to the men except of its own free will and accord."

London, Aug. 15.—Having recovered from the check inflicted on him early in the week by the Russians, General von Buelow, commanding that portion of the army of Field Marshal von Hindenburg, operating west of the Ivinak again has taken the offensive, and according to the official report published by Berlin today, has beaten the Russians in a battle in the vicinity of Kubisko and pushed them back in a northeasterly direction, taking over 2,000 prisoners.

To the south, before Kovno, the Russians, according to the same report, made a successful sortie from Kovno, which the Germans now are approaching.

In the Polish sector, the various German armies are slowly drawing their line and advancing from the northwest and south of Brest-Litovsk. While they continue to take comparatively small groups of prisoners, they make no claim to the capture of artillery or booty, which is considered by military observers as a fair indication that Grand Duke Nicholas' armies continue their orderly retreat and that for a long time to come will be able to prevent the Germans from detaching any part of their army for large ventures elsewhere.

The only event of activity outside of Poland and the Baltic provinces is on the Serbian frontier, where a bombardment of Belgrade by the Austrians and a counter bombardment of Semlin and Pansova by the Serbians has been resumed.

According to Nish, Austrian attempts to cross the Danube near the Serbian and Rumanian borders have been repulsed, but it is believed by the military experts here that this region will be the scene of the next Austrian offensive. There is some speculation in military circles as to whether Rumania as well as Serbia will be attacked because of Rumania's refusal to allow munitions of war to pass through Turkey, which is being pressed both on her Caucasus and Dardanelles fronts.

There is no news from the Dardanelles but information is hourly expected of a new movement of which the allies last week were the preliminaries.

Artois, the forest of the Argonne and the Vosges mountains, continue to be the scene of activity on the Western front, but no serious battles are in progress in any of these regions.

German War Statement.

Berlin, Aug. 15.—Via London.—The statement by the German official communication, referring to the situation in the Argonne, says:

"Western theatre: In the Argonne the Martenswerk is being rebuilt. We buried 350 French corpses."

"The reported bombardment of Martenswerk in the valley of the Fecht was answered by us with a bombardment of the railway tunnel at St. Die. The French whose fire had been directed afterward toward Markirsch ceased once they realized the intentions of our troops."

"Eastern theatre: The army group of Field Marshal von Hindenburg's troops under General von Buelow have driven the Russians near Kubisko in a northeasterly direction. They captured four officers and 2,350 men and took one machine gun. A Russian sortie from Kovno was repulsed. One thousand prisoners fell into our hands. Our attacking troops worked nearer to the front."

"Between the Narew and the Bug, on the line occupied by the Russians as reported yesterday, the enemy made a stubborn stand. At Narew, the crossing was forced by our troops late in the evening."

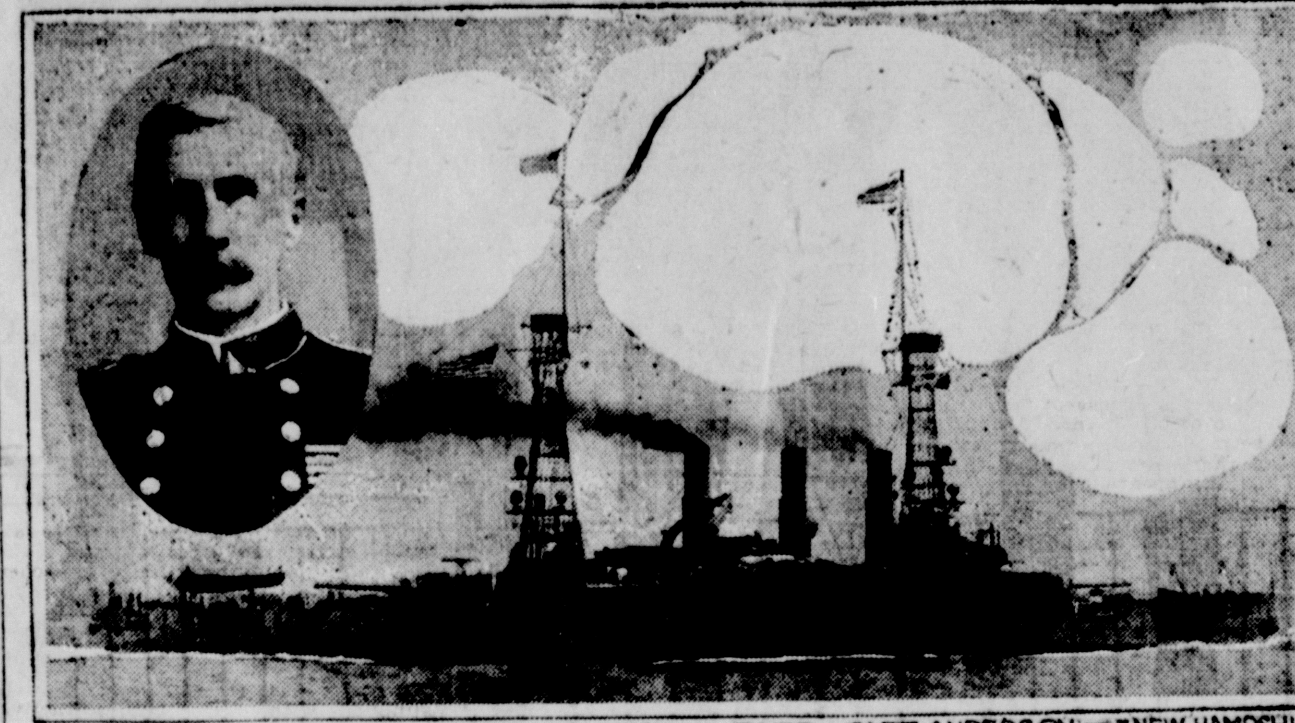

"The army of General von Scholtz yesterday took more than 1,000 prisoners and that of General von Gallwitz took 3,550 prisoners, including four machine guns. They also captured ten machine guns. On all fronts we gained ground."

"Army group of Prince Leopold of Bavaria: The Russians put up a stubborn resistance against the advance of this army group. During the day we succeeded in breaking through the enemy positions near and north of Losyve and midway between Losyve and Miedzyrzec. The enemy is retreating."

"The troops under Gen. von Woyrsch up to August 14 took four thousand prisoners including twenty-two officers."

"Army group of General von Mackensen: The defeated enemy yesterday attempted to arrange his front on a line of Rozanka, north of Miodawa, southeast of Siewiatyze, Horodke and Miedzyrzec. The force of our immediate attack the enemy resumed his retreat this morning."

Statement Sinking Submarine.

Paris, Aug. 15.—The French official version of the sinking of the Austrian submarine U-3 in the Adriatic, August 13, was given out by the ministry of marine here tonight as follows:

"The Austrian submarine U-3, after attacking in the Adriatic without success, an Italian auxiliary cruiser, was pursued during the whole of the afternoon of August 12, by Italian and French torpedo boat destroyers. The U-3 was drowned and sunk by gun fire on the morning of August 13 by the French torpedo boat destroyer Insou, which made prisoner of one officer and eleven sailors."

Situation in the Argonne.

London, Aug. 15, 9:15 p. m.—Reuters' version of the German official communication, referring to the situation in the Argonne, says:

"In the Argonne we have consolidated our positions at Martenswerk and buried 350 French dead."

"As to the fighting northeast of Waras, the Reuter version reads: 'Between the Narew and the Bug the Russians stubbornly resisted on the line mentioned yesterday evening; our troops forced a crossing of the Narew (Nur) river.'"

"After the reference to the capture by General von Gallwitz of prisoners and machine guns, Reuter's contains the additional sentence:

"The ring around Nowo Georgievsk is now becoming narrower."

Weekly Cotton Review.

New Orleans, Aug. 15.—While the price of cotton last week was held below the level of the previous week's close, the market made a show of recovery toward the end and the trading months were 20 to 24 points down. The main depressing influence was the precipitation over the belt. Bearishness in the market was the result of the rains of the greatest benefit but many bulls thought the injury done by drought could not be repaired this late in the season.

The weakness in the market for foreign exchange was an unfavorable factor and so was the constant talk of cotton being made contraband of war. The tropical storm was it created caution on the short side, especially after reports of the damage done in Jamaica were received. The large mill takings for the week, 261,000 bales, against 97,000 this week last year, and 115,000 this week two years ago, caused favorable comment, but led to little trading.

While the market this week hardly can fall to be much of a weather affair it is considered attention must be paid to complications in the export department. While the majority of cotton people believe England will soon declare cotton contraband of war, there is a question as to whether the actual declaration has been discounted. The foreign exchange market will be closely watched because foreign exchange is now one of the most important factors in the export business.

No Reply to Pope's Appeal.

Rome, Aug. 15.—The Vatican organs today deny that Pope Benedict's appeal for peace issued July 28, was received officially by the sovereigns of the belligerent nations. Notes bearing the signature of the pope, they say, were addressed to the rulers personally. The appeal to the heads of the warring states was a general like an encyclical and no direct reply is expected by the pope from the various governments or the sovereigns.

Wilson Soon Will Proclaim His Stand on Woman Suffrage

Washington, Aug. 15.—When the reports that President Wilson in announcing soon his position on woman suffrage would oppose it were brought to the attention of Secretary Tamm tonight, he said that the president had given no intimation to anybody of what his attitude would be. The secretary added that the president clearly before casting his vote in the special election in New Jersey in October.

National Registry in United Kingdom

London, Aug. 15.—This was national registry day throughout the United Kingdom. Every person between the ages of 15 and 65 was called upon to fill out a form giving age, occupation and ability to do work useful to the state.

The forms, distributed yesterday, will be collected tomorrow, and the government will be in possession of complete information as to the labor resources of the country and the number of men available for military service.

The enumeration caused remarkable scenes in all parts of the country. Many young men believing the registry means the inauguration of compulsory service and that men joining the army hereafter will be considered deserters instead of volunteers, went to the recruiting offices which were kept open all day in some towns to offer their services. On the other hand a number of young Irishmen returned to Ireland to some counties in which the registration regulations did not apply.

The departure of a party of these Irishmen from the Clyde was marked by a noisy demonstration. A crowd of the white lymph cells gave absolute immunity, the physicians declared they ascertained.

The investigators treated several mice with a serum of lymphoid tissue and say the number of white lymph cells in the animals almost doubled within a few days. The increase of the cells can either be natural or through the injection of lymph tissue.

Preparedness Will Be Governor's Topic

Madison, Wis., Aug. 15.—Governors of thirty-six states will attend the discussion of military preparedness, the principal subject on the program of the annual meeting of the governors' conference to be held in Boston August 24 to 27, according to an announcement today by Miles G. Riley, secretary of the conference.

Comment on Bulgarian Wrangle.

Nish, Serbia, Aug. 15, Via London, Aug. 15, 2:38 a. m.—Efforts of the quadruple entente to settle the differences of Bulgaria with Serbia and Greece have been undertaken with the best intentions for the future of the Balkans," says the semi-official Samoupravna in an editorial assuring the people of the Balkan states that they need feel no alarm over the situation. The editorial which is complimentary to the allies continues:

"They have our welfare always at heart. The negotiations prove the desire to see the Balkan relations definitely settled in a common peace of the annual meeting of the Balkans. 'If any error has been made it has been in the details. On the kindly interest and justice of the allies we can confidently reply.'"

Lumber Exports From U. S. Show Decrease

New Orleans, Aug. 15.—Lumber exports from the United States decreased 52 per cent during the fiscal year ending June 30, according to figures compiled by the Lumber Trade Journal of New Orleans, made public today. The value of this year's exports was given as $49,937,653, compared with $103,179,640 during the previous year.

Exports of lumber proper totaled 1,129,205,000 feet, compared with 2,405,296,000 feet the previous year. Pine fell from 1,104,843,000 feet to 476,629,000. Every item under the head of wood and its manufactures shows a decrease except box shooks, which increased five per cent, and hogheads and barrels, which gained 22 per cent.

In exports of lumber the United Kingdom made the nearest approach to maintaining its volume of receipts, taking 260,098,000 feet compared to 232,457,000 feet the preceding year. Germany's takings were 11 per cent of the year before.

Reports from individual ports on the Gulf and South Atlantic coast show Pensacola, Fla., leading in the volume of shipments, with a total of 132,325,000 feet. The Mobile district was next and New Orleans third.

Shipments from Port Arthur decreased 63 per cent and Galveston 66. The Atlantic ports on a smaller volume of movement, according to the report, maintained better percentages, that of Baltimore being 53 and Norfolk 51. Savannah was the only port which gained, heavy shipments of oak having raised its exports from 39,345,000 to 71,535,000 feet, an 82 per cent gain.

Hope for Immunity for Cancer.

New York, Aug. 15.—The Rockefeller institute announced today through the Academy of Science at Washington a discovery by two of its investigators whereby immunity from cancer, it is hoped, may be obtained. The investigation was conducted by Drs. James B. Murphy and John J. Morton, over a period of two years.

They discovered that in the white lymph cells of the blood there are the necessary factors in making animals immune from cancer. A decided increase of the white lymph cells gives absolute immunity, the physicians declared they ascertained.

The investigators treated several mice with a serum of lymphoid tissue and say the number of white lymph cells in the animals almost doubled within a few days. The increase of the cells can either be natural or through the injection of lymph tissue.

the manufacture of arms and ammunition sufficient to supply the needs of its military and naval forces throughout the progress of a war. Manifestly the application of this theory would result in every nation becoming an armed camp ready to employ aggression and tempted to employ force in asserting its right to justice rather than appeal to reason and justice for the settlement of international disputes.

Perceiving as it does that the adoption of the principles that it is the duty of a neutral to prohibit the sale of arms and ammunition to the belligerent which encouraged the manufacture of munitions in time of peace and which had lain in vast stores of arms and ammunition in anticipation of war, the government of the United States is convinced that the adoption of the theory would force militarism on the world and work against that universal peace which is the desire and purpose of all nations which exalt justice and righteousness in their relations with one another.

No Implications Meant.

The government of the United States in the foregoing discussion of the practical reason why it has advocated and practiced trade in munitions of war, wishes to be understood as speaking with no thought of expressing or implying any judgment with regard to the circumstances of the present war, but as merely putting very frankly the argument in this matter which has been conclusive in determining the policy of the United States.

While the practice of nations so well illustrated by the practice of Austria-Hungary and Germany during the South African war, and the manifest evil which would result from a change of that practice, render compliance with the suggestions of the imperial and royal government out of the question, certain assertions appearing in the Austro-Hungarian statement as grounds for its contentions, cannot be passed over without comment. The assertions substantially are as follows:

1. That the exportation of arms and ammunition from the United States to the belligerents contravenes the preamble of The Hague convention Number 13, of 1907.

2. That it is inconsistent with the policy of this government to allow the delivery of supplies to vessels of war on the high seas.

3. That "according to all authorities on international law who concern themselves properly with the question" exportation should be prevented "when this traffic assumes such a form or such dimensions that the neutrality of a nation becomes involved thereby."

As to the assertion that the effect of exportation of arms and ammunition contravenes the preamble of The Hague convention Number 13 of 1907, this government presumes that reference is made to the last paragraph of the preamble, which is as follows:

"Seeing that in this category of ideas, these rules should not, in principle be altered in the course of war by a neutral power, except in a case where experience has shown the necessity for such change for the protection of the rights of that power."

Manifestly the only ground to change the rules laid down by the convention, one of which it should be noted, explicitly declares that a neutral is not bound to prohibit the exportation of contraband of war, is the necessity of a neutral power to do so in order to protect its own rights. The right and duty to determine when this necessity exists rests with the neutral, not with the belligerent. It is discretionary, not mandatory. If a neutral does not avail itself of the right a belligerent is not privileged to complain, for in doing so it would be in the position of declaring to the neutral power what is necessary to protect that power's own rights. The imperial and royal government cannot but perceive that a complaint of this nature would involve an rebuke. MORE MORE MORE MORE MORE

Law As to Obtaining Coal.

With reference to the associated inconsistency of the course adopted by this government in relation to the exportation of arms and ammunition and that followed in not allowing supplies to be taken from its ports to ships of war on the high seas, it is only necessary to point out that the prohibition of supplies to ships of war rests upon the principle that a neutral power must not permit its territory to become a naval base for either belligerent. A warship may under certain restrictions obtain fuel and supplies in a neutral port once in three months. To permit merchant vessels acting as tenders to carry supplies more often than three months and in unlimited amount would defeat the purpose of the rule and might constitute an invasion of the territory of a belligerent. Furthermore this government is unaware that any Austro-Hungarian ship of war has sought to obtain supplies from a port in the United States either directly or indirectly. This subject has, however, already been discussed with the imperial German government to which the position of this government was fully set forth December 24, 1914.

In view of the positive assertion in the statement of the imperial and royal government as to the unanimity of the opinions of text writers as to the prohibition of contraband of war, this government has caused a careful examination of the principal authorities on international law to be made. The result of this examination it has come to the conclusion that the imperial and royal government has been misled and has, in its examination, made an erroneous assertion, adversely made an erroneous assertion, consulted advocate unreservedly the prohibition of the export of contraband of war. It is admitted that the practice of nations has been otherwise. It may not be to the declaration of the German authorities, Paul Elinke, who states that at the beginning of a war belligerents have never prohibited on trade in contraband but adds "that such prohibitions may be considered as violations of neutrality or at least as unfriendly acts if they are enacted during a war with the purpose to close unexpectedly the sources of supply to a party which heretofore had relied on them."

The government of the United States deems it unnecessary to extend further at the present time a consideration of a statement of the Austro-Hungarian government. The principles of international law, the practice of nations, the safety of the United States and other nations without great military and naval establishments, the prevention of increased armaments and the adoption of peaceful methods for the adjustment of international differences and finally, neutrality itself, are opposed to the prohibition by a neutral nation of the exportation of arms, ammunition or other munitions of war to belligerent powers during the progress of the war.

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation and congestion, female weakness, pains in both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a place in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in an asylum if your medicines had not saved me. But now I can work all day, sleep well at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, fears and dreads are gone, my house, children and husband are no longer neglected, as I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies, and all is pleasure and happiness in my home."

DR. S. J. REID SPEAKS AT CRYSTAL THEATRE

SINGING BY MORROW ST. METH. ODIST CHOR A FEATURE AT Y. M. C. A. MEETING.

PROPHECY OF ISAIAH TEXT

Speaker Says Man's Greatest Problem Is to Know God—Closer Relation Urged.

Dr. S. J. Reid of Minneapolis, formerly of Belfast, Ireland, delivered a strong address to more than 250 men at the Crystal theatre yesterday afternoon. The meeting was the regular men's meeting conducted by the Waco Young Men's Christian Association.

As a special feature which was greatly enjoyed by all present, the Morrow Street Methodist church choir sang. The number which was most pleasing was "Glorious Things of Thee Are Spoken." The choir was led by J. H. Poteat. The members are Miss Hattie Dennison, pianist; Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Wheatley, Misses Frances Wortham, Ione Wortham, Edna Ard, Clara Thum, Fay Bailey, Emily Howard, Dorothy Howard, Mrs. W. H. Howard, Messrs. Seelye Shafer, Ed Porter, Chas. Bailey, J. H. Smith.

Dr. Reid took his text from Isaiah 32:2. "And a man shall be as an hiding place from the wind, and a covert from the tempest, and as rivers of water in a dry place, and as the shadow of a great rock in a weary land."

Prophecy True Today.
The prophecy of Isaiah was written centuries ago, the speaker said, but it is true today. There are three, but it is the human race, he said, shelter in a time of danger, rivers of water and the shadow of the rock. Even in America we are not free from the danger of life. This is not from the danger of life, but from the present day as always in the past, instead of seeking shelter from danger often flies in the very face of it.

No man can tell what the future holds in store for him. When a man feels danger near and realizes it he instinctively seeks for shelter. Life is not always a pleasant thing; he does not always move to suit each individual; man becomes discouraged; when this happens he probably breaks away for a change. The prophet was speaking to this sort of a man.

Shadow of a Rock.
A great rock in the desert protects the oasis from the drifting sand, and saves life on the weary land. Martin Luther, Calvin and other great leaders in the dark period of Christianity and Jesus Christ himself were examples of rocks in the weary land.

In dealing with man's greatest problem is to know his own God. This should be man's first consideration. In olden days of the Bible people sought God and then went to war. Today people go to war and then seek God. Man must have a close relation with God.

"If we can but get under the shadow of the great rock, in the weary land, and fight the battles of life and win," declared the speaker.

was reported to San Benito and a detachment of soldiers were sent to guard the family.

Would Eliminate Mexicans.—Reports reaching army headquarters from points in the Rio Grande valley indicate a forceful movement to eliminate Mexicans from that section of Texas. Depredations of the last few weeks have at the point of adopting drastic measures to free that prosperous valley from further trouble by aliens.

Commercially, land owners and business men declare the publicity given to the present uprising of Mexicans from that section has done untold damage in keeping prospective settlers and tourists from that section for months to come. An analysis of reports from many points and county peace officers and state and county peace officers have been engaged in running down Mexican raiders indicates the killing of many Mexicans, but with no way of accurately estimating the number. It is believed several hundred have been killed and henceforth in no town or settlement in the valley will the percentage of Mexicans be anywhere near as great as American citizens.

Up to the present trouble in nearly every town and precinct Mexicans far exceeded Americans. A prominent peace officer who has been active in leading posses to capture Mexican raiders when asked to estimate the number killed replied:

"I don't know, but the woods are full of them."

Another official from another section of the valley answered the same question this way:

"The hunters this winter may count them, but we have no time now to keep records."

More than two thousand peaceful Mexicans, most of them refugees from their own country, have left the valley for other points in Texas and in other states. Within the last three days a score or more of them received threatening notices from leaders of the bandit bands demanding that they either join in the movement against the Texans or contribute to the fund for the maintenance of the "army of liberty."

VITAL RELIGION MUST BE POTENT DANGER FROM PICTURE SHOWS

Bible Declared Living Up-to-date Guide Book and Store House of Wisdom.

Rev. E. Lynwood Crystal, pastor of the North Waco Christian church, preached yesterday morning on "The Power of Godliness." He said in part:

In his second letter to Timothy, the great apostle to the gentiles writes of grievous times that shall come when the progress of Christianity shall be hindered by a long list of disreputable characters holding a form of godliness, but having denied the power thereof.

"Leaving out of consideration for the time the questions that arise concerning the present existence of the characters spoken of, there is a positive implication in the quoted statement concerning godliness that is of great practical value to us today."

"The term godliness may be considered as meaning, at least, all that ought to be comprehending the life of the professed disciple of Christ."

"There is here no discount on the importance of divinely authorized forms belonging to Christianity. The emphasis that is stressed is that adherence to or observance of such form must be made valid by manifest presence of the power of godliness."

"Thus it appears that to be vital, one's religion must be potent. It must be possessed of certain elements that under the enlightenment of the New Testament are easily discernible. That presents itself to our minds as a dynamic factor in the vitality of our religion is truth. The power of truth is proverbial. Popular speech is full of tributes to truth. Truth knows no conquerors. It may be resisted but cannot be overthrown. He who would oppose it works his own destruction. But to the value of truth is something more than the recognition of an abstract quality. The truth must completely control my thought and action in regard to the Christian life."

"Master of evil, as the Lord and the savior of the saved, with all that is involved. I must give loyal devotion to Him who said: 'If ye abide in my word, then ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.'"

"Another element of power in religion is faith. In the possession of this quality the great deeds of history have been wrought. The greatest catalogue of heroes left in the world for our inspiration is found in the eleventh chapter of the Bible. This is the victory that hath overcome the world, even our faith."

"Out of other elements of power I shall note but one more. When the author of this letter to Timothy was writing to the Corinthians, he dwelt at length upon the factors that contributed to the establishment of Christianity emphasizing the fact that these things were but though essential, these things were but temporary and said a most excellent thing: 'Show I unto you.' Prophecies, tongues, miracles—all shall give place. But now abideth faith, hope, love, these three; and the greatest of these is love. Love suffereth long, and is kind; love envieth not; love vaunteth not itself; is not puffed up; doth not behave itself unseemly, taketh not account of evil; rejoiceth not in unrighteousness, but rejoiceth with the truth; beareth all things, believeth all things, hopeth all things, endureth all things. Love never faileth."

"While speaking on the subject of reading books, I cannot but say that a vile person is as bad or worse than a vile book. People who would not be seen with certain characters read books just as bad as the vilest. This is a sad state of affairs in our country. A school in Dallas held up a street car carrying its own nature, whether it be pure or good. I am sure that we have a great whispering gallery—we have for breakfast every morning the news of the world. And too much of this is not helpful. Not only is this the case, but the country is full of worthless and trashy novels. It is a day of sensationalism. One thing I fear in the educational feature of the moving picture is that it is tending to destroy the country's interest in study. The tendency is to have everything furnished at the cheapest and easiest price possible."

"Every library, Sunday school, home and public school should have a committee or board of censors, to pass upon all reading before our children are turned loose on them. A few good books well read will be much more satisfactory than many not worth while. After all, there is but one book, and that is the book of all books—the Bible. If we leave it out we have left all out."

"Yes, the Bible is a living up-to-date guide book, a storehouse of all necessary wisdom. It is written in the history of the lives of men who fought exactly the battles we have to fight; who faced the same difficulties, temptations and doubts we have to face; who tried to overcome but were often vanquished exactly as we are conscious of having done and that is the promise of God to all men. A promise of Heaven, the Redeemer—eternal rest at last."

Preaching on "Good Literature," Rev. R. F. Brown, pastor of the Herring avenue Methodist church, yesterday morning urged a careful selection in books, especially for children.

He took his text from Tim. 4, 12, saying in part as follows: "Reading is an important element in the life of both the individual and the nation. Some one says: 'What has the subject to do with the preaching of the Gospel?' To which I would reply by saying that it is the duty of the preacher to warn his people against all evil."

"Reading is a commendable. Lord Bacon said: 'Reading maketh a full man; conversation a ready man; and writing maketh the exact man. I think Lord Bacon naturally had in his mind the reading of good literature. For we might say that as 'one thinketh so is he,' and as 'one readeth so he thinketh.'"

"The literature of a nation moulds the thought and guides the actions of the people, its papers and books guide the teachers and law-givers of today. Hence the importance of the kind of literature and reading to the individual, church and state. We live on what we eat."

"There is a hunger of the body—it must be satisfied. How careful we are to use the purest food on our table. There is also a hunger of the mind—it must and will be satisfied. How careful we should be here. I have fed our children on impure food what can we expect? If we can let them read sensational newspapers, dime novels, what can we expect? Mental weakness and moral perverts."

"As we convenience we are going to class all literature or reading under two heads: Good and Bad. Jno. Ruskin says: 'No book is worth anything unless it is worth much, nor think wretchedly until read and read.' Before taking up the influence of reading under the two heads named I want to offer a fundamental proposition. As water seeks its level, so does literature. In other words, we never rise above our reading. Perhaps I should put it a little differently and say that, as we read so are we."

"First, the effect of bad literature cannot be estimated in the shore time of our country comes from the reading of bad books and trashy literature. Our daily newspapers are full of sensational happenings—murders, sin and folly, and such are things our children should not see. Daily newspapers are like the arteries of the human body, going out into every part, carrying its own nature, whether it be pure or good. I am sure that we have a great whispering gallery—we have for breakfast every morning the news of the world. And too much of this is not helpful. Not only is this the case, but the country is full of worthless and trashy novels. It is a day of sensationalism. public, in which he expresses the belief that any communication dealing with Mexican affairs should be addressed personally to Venustiano Carranza, the supreme authority in the country and the only man whom a soldier would ever obey. Carranza's reply is believed here to forecast the stand many other Carranza military leaders will take on the Pan-American appeal which was delivered to Mexican officials in Nuevo Laredo today by American Consul A. B. Garrett.

Recant in his reply says that Carranza, since the assassination of Madero, has been the only "minister of internal authority" to fight for constitutional order and that he has continued as the only recognized authority by the constitutionalist army under the rights of all Mexican territory."

All honorable Mexicans, he states, are convinced Carranza is the only capable leader, and has demonstrated ability to satisfy the "just aspirations of the people and re-establish constitutional order," and believes to "Carranza personally you should address" communications relating to conditions in Mexico.

Two Midshipmen Are Dismissed From the U. S. Naval Academy

Washington, Aug. 15.—Findings of the court of inquiry which investigated irregularities in examinations and recitations of the naval academy with disciplinary recommendations approved by Secretary Daniels was made public tonight at the navy department.

Two midshipmen, Ralph M. Nelson, Jr., of Peekskill, N. Y., and Charles M. Reagle of Wellsville, Ohio, are dismissed from the academy. Twelve others are ordered disciplined in varying degrees.

The court, appointed by Secretary Daniels last June submitted an ultimatum after a long and exhaustive inquiry which created a sensation and delayed the sailing of the academy's practice squadron on its Pacific cruise. All of the disciplined recommendations were approved by the secretary and the dismissals approved by President Wilson.

Sweeping changes in the methods of conducting examinations were suggested by the court and are under consideration by Secretary Daniels.

Among the recommendations were: "That the practice of giving out 'dope' or advanced information should be abolished unless formal heads of the department issue it by memoranda."

"That examinations should not be so long or so difficult as to make 'dope' systems necessary for a great proportion of a class to pass examinations satisfactorily."

In his report which preceded the inquiry, the superintendent of the academy recommended six midshipmen for dismissal and sixteen others were brought into the proceedings after the court began to hear testimony. Only two were sentenced to dismissal by the court. Some were given less severe penalties and others were exonerated.

THE SOUTH ITS OWN SAVIOR.

The following editorial from Sunday's Houston Post so nearly expresses our viewpoint of the cotton situation and the conference on that subject in Galveston Saturday that we are reproducing it in full as follows:

"The conference of southern bankers in Galveston yesterday to plan for the protection, financing and marketing of the cotton crop was a sane, practical and desirable proceeding in all respects and in its true value to the cotton growing industry was in striking contrast with all suggestions looking to action by the federal government to force Great Britain and her allies to permit the shipment of cotton to Germany and Austria ports.

"The important fact developed at the conference was that the south is able itself to protect the producers against loss, and we can see that it is better for the southern bankers, merchants and producers to do what they can surely do than rely upon the federal government to do something that it certainly can not do.

"Another consideration of far-reaching importance is that what the southern bankers, merchants and producers can do, in time of war to safeguard our cotton may frequently be necessary to avert loss in time of peace.
We have suffered much loss heretofore through lack of facilities to store cotton and market it according to the demands of the market, as well as through the lax methods of handling which result in country damage.

"Yesterday's conference, therefore,
will have as important a bearing upon the future of cotton, when the war shall have ended, as upon the present.

"It is plain enough that Great Britain and her allies are going to exhaust every resource to prevent the Teutonic alliance from receiving cotton, and their mastery of the sea makes it a comparatively easy task.
We are bound to admit that the use of cotton in making explosives is now greater than ever before, and that depriving the Teutonic alliance of a cotton supply is a matter of such vital importance to the entente allies they are not apt to yield to our representations in the premises.

"We can not enter the war as an antagonist of the allies when we are exhausting all the arts of diplomacy to keep out of war with Germany. If possible, we must keep out of the war entirely. To forfeit the friendship of the allies would not help us get a single bale into Germany or Austria, but it would destroy markets for possibly 6,000,000 bales that yet remain open to us.

"Such differences as may arise between the United States and Great Britain with respect to cotton must necessarily be arbitrated at the conclusion of the war. So far as the present crop is concerned, its conservation is a matter within our own control and we must follow the course indicated by the co-operative movement suggested by the southern bankers.

"The situation is encouraging enough if the proper degree of co-operation be secured, and if there is any failure in that respect the south will be to blame.

"We must meet the situation as it is, and not waste time in debating impractical theories involving pressure upon the allies which we are in no position to bring to bear."

"Wine will be higher," reads a headline. Well, we should not worry.

MEXICO'S BEST HOPE.

There are doubtless many ignorant Mexicans in Mexico who will resent the publication in that country of the very polite note of the Pan-American conference on the Mexican situation from the fact that designing leaders have caused them to look with suspicion and prejudice upon any proposal originating in the United States, but how any of the leaders of the various factions, or persons with sufficient intelligence to be accredited with any political or military influence there can resent the sending of the document is more than we can see.

Weeks might have been spent fruitlessly in an attempt to frame a more friendly message on a situation which even the Mexican leaders must confess is of vital moment to other countries of the two Americas. There is nothing in the note that faintly suggests intervention or force of any character.

The message is nothing more than a cordial proffer of aid to a friend in trouble by those who have reason and hope to believe that they can be of material assistance in ending that trouble. If the leaders to whom the petition for a conference on the general situation is addressed are in earnest about ending the internecine strife that has all but ruined their country, if they are patriots rather than selfish bandits, if they love their country more than the self and plunder for which they have been struggling, they will adopt the suggestion of their neighbors to the north and south of them and come together on some neutral spot in Mexico and pave the way for bringing an end to the disgraceful struggle that has brought about so much bloodshed and loss of property and produced such great inconvenience and embarrassment to thousands of foreigners as well as hundreds of thousands of their own people.

Indications are that the better element of the people throughout Mexico want a cessation of the disgraceful situation that has existed there for the past two or three years. There is hope that all of the military leaders except Carranza are willing to cooperate in the plan and it may be that even the stubborn commander of Vera Cruz may yield when he sees the alternative of an embargo on arms facing him if he does not enter the conference. While Carranza has greater military strength than any of his rivals there would be little hope of peace under his regime, even if he were recognized by the United States and other world powers, for he would not be acceptable to the rival factions and he does not represent the succession to the constitutional government that was overthrown in the assassination of Madero.

Another helpful sign lies in the fact that eight of the states and one territory of Mexico have declared themselves independent of any and all of the fighting factions, thus ridding their borders of warfare, and declaring armed resistance against any of the factions which may undertake to penetrate those states. We hope this movement will spread, for these states are in a position to negotiate for peace and the Pan-American conference has pointed the way.

People, no less than individuals, frequently fail to improve opportunities and act for their own advantage, but after the disaster that has come to Mexico from the continuation of this strife between factions, we are led to believe that the best elements of that country will favor accepting the best proposal for the settlement of the difficulties that has yet been offered.

WACO NEEDS CITY MANAGER.

The Morning News finds itself in hearty accord with its neighbor, The Times-Herald, in the demand for a city manager for Waco. The demand for a city manager is a demand for less politics and more efficiency and sooner or later the people of Waco and other progressive cities are going to demand it just as they have come to demand other useful things when they have been aroused to the need of them.

As long as we demand all or much of a commissioner's time for a small salary we can not expect to command the services of many of the men best qualified for running the affairs of the city, which, as our neighbor suggests, is a corporation and demands constant business supervision. Inability to induce the best business men of the city to run for our responsible offices leaves these places to be filled by the politicians. And once these politicians are inducted into office their consideration is more frequently what is best to be done for their own advancement than what is best for the city. Men are appointed to subordinate positions not because of their fitness for the task, so much, as from the fact that they supported the man making the appointment. Naturally there is little chance for efficiency under such a regime.

The Morning News favors not only the city manager plan but the provision of a salary for that position which would enable the commissioners to get the best man available for that position, no matter how far they might have to go for him, and regardless of his politics. But in order that the change to the city manager plan might not entail an additional expense to the tax payers of the city we would have the mayor and the commissioners serve without salary and give their consideration to the mapping out of general policies and the naming of the city manager. This provision for no salary would eliminate the man who seeks office for the salary that is in it, or who has any other political axe to grind, and would permit big men who are willing to serve their city for the honor there is in it and for the service they can render to do so without unduly taxing their time.

A city manager who knows his job could do more and better work than four or five men as the heads of various departments, each department jealous of the other, and each filled with employees who are there from political considerations rather than upon their merits. A city manager should have the appointive power in every department of the city, with the possible exception of police, and there the appointments should be made by the chief of police, who in turn should be held strictly accountable for results in that department just as the city manager is in all the others.
The manager should purchase all the city supplies, order all city repairs, and approve all city bills. In some cities smaller than Waco the city manager has saved his salary for a year in a month's time on goods purchased for the city, and we are confident that one could save several times his salary in a year's time on purchases for a city the size of Waco.

High taxes are not an inviting proposition but they are a permanent fixture until we come to demand more efficiency in government, including the elimination of useless offices. A step in the direction of cheap and efficient city government lies in the adoption of the city manager plan and we hope Waco will not be slow to catch the step of progress.

THE BOY'S VACATION.

What is your boy doing this summer vacation? Inquires the Minneapolis Journal. Has he something to do each day these three months as definite and educational as he had during the preceding nine school months? If not, why not? Does he need three months of undirected, aimless rest? If he is a healthy boy, he does not. Indeed, such a vacation may be demoralizing.

It is not the greatest indictment of our school system that our sons when graduated are unfitted for skilled work. It is that they have not been taught to like a full day's work. A boy's school day, school week, school year is not a full day, week or year.
A full program is necessary to a full education.

Our schools are not expected to furnish a full program, though many parents have come to expect it. Six hours of each five days through nine months is not a working year. What sport or work fills out the remainder of the time, ought to be definitely laid out and definitely done.

No healthy boy needs to lie about and rest, till he must devise new entertainment to vary the monotony of rest. This is but preparation for habitual idleness. The boy's unfitness for work at graduation is not to any great extent the fault of the school.
It is the fault of his father, who was too busy with business to save his son; to lay out daily programs and watch them done; to direct, to counsel, to command.

Bringing up a boy costs time and thought and vitality. But it pays. For what shall it profit a man, if he gain the whole world and lose his own son?
Or what shall a man give in exchange for his son?

Dick Downs was a citizen whom any community might pride itself in claiming and there is general regret that he was called from the scene of his labors in the prime of life.

For that fine rain of Thursday night and Friday morning and the exceptionally mild weather we have had all summer our politest bow of acknowledgment is made to Dr. I. Block, independent observer for the Morning

Many honors are in store in this country for the Brazilian minister to Mexico, who is en route to Washington, and he's entitled to all of them.
He has served this country with great fidelity and has shown himself a really big man.

Waco has had many public servants, first and last, but she has never had one who possessed more knowledge of the work in his department, a greater conscientiousness in discharge of that duty, nor a higher regard for the public weal than P. A. Gorman, who laid down the toils and burdens of this life yesterday. And he served his community in private as well as in public station, living in every way a life that was blameless and leaving for his family a heritage of honor of which no fate or fortune can rob them.

HALF FALLS COUNTY

ERS' PRECINCTS INDICATES

In Precinct 3 Carried by 95 and in
No. 4 by 213—Will Not Affect

Marlin, Aug. 15.—One-half of Falls county will soon be dry as a result of the election in the two commissioners' precincts west of the river Saturday, as reports today indicate pro majorities in precinct No. 3 of 95 and in No. 4 of 213. The dryness of west Falls county will not affect Marlin, as it is 4½ miles to the river.

Mexican Killed Near Marlin.

Marlin, Aug. 15.—Saturday night a Mexican with stab wounds stumbled into Alex Kyser's place a few miles from town and asked to phone for an officer. Constable Wrenn on reaching the place was told where to find the man's home, walked two miles through brush to slip up on him, found him lying in a wagon, apparently drunk, but found him dead with seven cuts.
Three Mexicans are held charged with the murder.

Rains in Falls County.

are for heavy rain tonight.

Many Changes in Looks of A. & M. Are Made in Summer

College Station, Aug. 15.—Great changes in the physical appearance of the A. & M. college are being made during the vacation months. In addition to the new buildings which are to be erected in the next fiscal year, which begins September 1, old buildings are being repainted and repaired, more sidewalks are being laid, streets paved, and the grounds generally improved.

Work on the new $50,000 hospital, the $100,000 dairy barn, the $40,000 animal judging pavilion, a number of houses for college employees, hot houses for the various plant breeding departments and other buildings, allowed for 1915-16 by the Thirty-fourth legislature, will begin immediately after September 1.

Shower baths have been installed in the five dormitories that were without them, all of the dormitories have been repainted, replastered and repaired. New beds, tables and chairs have been bought to take the place of the old dormitory furniture and other steps taken to render the cadets more comfortable.

The most needed work, however, is the laying of concrete walks connecting all of the buildings and covering all of the ground traversed frequently by the boys. In addition the main parade ground from the chapel to the mess hall will be paved. Work on this street will begin immediately and an effort will be made to have it completed before the opening of school.
The pavement will be thirty feet in width. This walk is used by the cadet corps three times daily in going to their meals. Heretofore in wet weather the lack of walks has been one of the greatest causes of complaint. With the completion of the pavement and the concrete walks cadets will be out of the mud even in the most severe weather.

All of the instruction buildings are being repainted and repaired and the campus looks like a different institution. Gathright hall, the oldest building on the grounds, is being made into a modern structure with a new brick porch, paint and stucco.

At the athletic park new bleachers and grandstands will be erected to accommodate the thousands that are expected to attend the game between State University and A. & M. football eleven, which will be played at the college November 18.

Improvement of the college grounds will be carried on rapidly," says President Rizzell. "The legislature has been liberal with us and I shall see to it that buildings and grounds here reflect credit on the state."

Co-Operate Demonstration A. & M.

College Station, August 15.—Co-operative work in horticultural demonstrations will be carried on beginning next week by the A. & M. college extension service and the agricultural department of the Katy railroad. W.
W. Evans, agricultural agent for the Katy, has just completed arrangements with the college whereby demonstrations in the use of power and hand sprayers to combat insects in orchards and truck farms will be given at towns and communities along the Katy line.

Pruning and spraying demonstrations in the orchards will be given by A. & M. men. Mr. Evans will be in charge of the trip.

He Had Tried It.

A teacher was examining a class of small boys in arithmetic. Addressing a particularly smart boy, she asked:
"Can five go into one?"

"Please ma'am," he said, "I put ing."—Exchange.

Letters from the People

Developing American Shipping.

To the Waco Morning News:

The purpose of this society is to aid in every proper way the interests of American ship owners and American seamen, and to encourage the growth of an American merchant marine.

The scope of the undertaking embraces the endeavor to acquire accurate and convincing knowledge of present circumstances that tend to discourage American activity in maritime affairs and to revert these conditions through concentrated and sustained insistence.

The business interests of the country are aroused to the gravity of the emergency, both commercial and defensive, resulting from the absence of adequate ocean transportation facilities. All seem impressed that some competent action should be initiated to revive American shipping, but a discord of opinion prevails as to the method.

That a definite result may be achieved, we are striving to establish cohesion of thought and unity of purpose in the minds of those who use patriotism and business acumen inspire deeds of worth. Diffused thought and divided vigor are impotent, but combined, they are irresistible. Harmonious effort will discover the remedy. Its application will follow.

We appeal to those who have the future welfare of our country at heart to express their views that a consensus of opinion may obtain, or to signify their approval of the intent of this society. If you are with us in spirit, words of encouragement will add to the zest of our endeavor.
May we rely upon your moral support in the effort to guide the genius of American aptitude toward its destiny upon the sea?

Yours very truly,

GEO. S. TAYLOR,

Secretary.

Music in the Home.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 14.

To the Waco Morning News:

In all ages music in the homes of the people has been an inspiration to parents and children. The old neighborhood "singings" were ever attractive to the young, and are now remembered by the old as among their most enjoyable experiences in youth.
The songs of our mothers still afford pleasant memories.

Good instrumental accompaniments have always been appreciated. There are some objections on the part of some good people to instrumental music in religious services, but multitudes at least back to the days of the psalmist David and since have enjoyed it, when properly rendered.

You may judge of the spirit of the people of any country by the musical airs, and you may measure the spirituality of a religious congregation very largely by their songs.

Linger about a properly equipped and conducted orphan's home and the songs the children sing on their lawns and the music they render indoors will tell you of the reign of pleasure.

Buckner Orphans' Home has become proverbial for good music and soulful singing. Hundreds of the children sing, and sing well, carrying in harmony the various parts. They have learned the science of music. Scores of them, boys and girls, are well trained on various instruments. They sing in Sunday school, at chapel service, in their school rooms, on their playgrounds and about their work.

Pianos, organs, violins, guitars and mandolins are freely used and skillfully handled. These instruments have been donated and some bought by the earnings of the class, extra of daily domestic duties. The instruction given them, all told, does not add to the cost of running the home more than one music scholar has to pay in our colleges, or music schools.

No one with a heart could object to this. Every person visiting the institution and observing how this is done and its good effects, give great praise.

It amounts to the work and benefits of a regular music academy. Quite a number have graduated in music, have received their medals, and gone out as teachers. We could now supply some such, and they are fully competent.

Miss Ila Gibbs is highly competent and ready to take such a position in a private family or any of our academies or colleges.

Miss Nancy Pearl Whitley, one of the wards, gave her recital last week, and received a valuable gold medal, paid for by Deacon Hal E. White of Lancaster. Others have been similarly favored in the past.

All these are active in suitable industries. Our wards all work, and trained to it as part of their education.

CONGRESSMAN HENRY RETURNS TO WACO

UNLESS WAY IS FOUND TO SHIP COTTON, BELIEVES BOARD WILL FINANCE CROP.

ONLY DIFFERENCE ON INTEREST

Gratification Expressed Over Local Activity in Brazos Navigation Matter.

Unless some way is found to ship southern cotton to Europe the federal reserve board will help finance the crop in the opinion of Congressman Robert L. Henry, who returned to Waco yesterday on the Katy Flyer from a two weeks' trip to Washington. Mr. Henry was in conference with the federal reserve board in Washington. He said last night that the only difference not worked out was as to the amount of interest that ought to be charged.

Recent dispatches from Washington have been to the effect that Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia, Congressman Henry and other southern senators and representatives were considering requesting President Woodrow Wilson to call an extra session of congress to adopt methods of reprisal to bring an end to the British blockade. Resolutions from importing interests, declaring that Great Britain's attitude is running business, have already been sent to the white house.

Congressman Henry, who is chairman of the house committee on rules, held a long conference with members of the federal reserve board regarding the financing of the cotton crop. He told them that the south is aroused over blockade restrictions and is rapidly losing patience. It is his opinion that the state department, through Secretary Lansing, ought to arrange with the warring European nations for the sale of 10,000,000 bales of American cotton, which he believes would relieve the situation immediately.

Representative Henry says he suggested to Chairman Harding of the reserve board that $500,000,000 of federal reserve notes be deposited in the New Orleans sub-treasury to be loaned through the three reserve banks of the south to member banks of the reserve system, which would permit farmers to have the money at four per cent on six and twelve months' time. Under this plan, Mr. Henry contended, the southern cotton planters may hold their product for another year, if England declares cotton contraband and tightens its blockade lines.

Mr. Henry said last night that he expected to be in Waco most of the time for the next few months, except while he is filling speaking engagements. He has accepted special invitations to speak at Sherman, McKinney, Grandbury, Hillsboro and several other points in the near future, but does not expect to discuss political issues.

With regard to his campaign for the United States senate, Mr. Henry said that he considered things in good condition and getting better. Furthermore, he said he did not believe that national prohibition would be made an issue in the coming campaign and that he sincerely hoped it would not.

Holiness Meeting Comes to a Close

The twenty-fourth annual Holiness camp meeting, held a few miles east of the city, ended last night. Those in charge declare that the attendance has been very satisfactory and much interest shown in those present. The camp meeting always lasts for ten days, that precedent being set by the late John H. Appell of Waco, who founded the association.

There was a large crowd present last night and the closing services were declared the best of the entire meeting. The preaching has been done by Rev. W. W. McCord of Elberton, Mo., and Rev. Bud Robinson of Pasadena, Cal., with Rev. Hamp Sewell of Atlanta, Ga., in charge of the music.

Concert at Casino Draws Large Crowd

There was no band concert at Cameron park yesterday afternoon, but a record-breaking crowd heard the concert last night at the Cameron Park Casino by the seven-piece Casino orchestra. The Raymond overture proved one of the most popular numbers on the well-balanced program, and the orchestra was forced to respond to several encores.

Very few cities in the south, if any, have any more pleasant place for concerts than the cool and inviting room of the Casino. Just enough lights have been placed around the roof to give a subdued glow without any glare, the gentle breezes have full sweep, and the roof is always cool and comfortable.

UNITED STATES PREPARING FOR ANY EVENTUALITY IN VERA CRUZ

MEXICAN TROOPS PARADING IN VERA CRUZ.

Alarming reports from Vera Cruz that anti-American demonstrations had broken out in the Carranza capital and that foreigners were in peril caused orders to rush the battalions Louisiana and New Hampshire from Newport to Vera Cruz. Opinion is general that a crisis has been reached in the Mexican situation. According to reports from official sources, mobs are gathered in the streets to listen to incendiary speeches against the Americans. The refusal of President Wilson and the Latin American conferees to recognize Carranza is given as the cause of the demonstration. The accompanying photograph shows Mexican troops parading in the city of Vera Cruz.

BRAZILIAN MINISTER DELAYED ON RIVER

WAS EXPECTED YESTERDAY AT NEW ORLEANS—FEAR STORM MAY CAUSE TROUBLE.

Formal Reception Planned at New Orleans—Government Sends Representative to Welcome.

New Orleans, Aug. 15.—Jose M. Cardoso de Oliveira, Brazilian minister to Mexico, and his family, en route to this country from Vera Cruz, failed to arrive here today on the gunboat Sacramento, as had been expected. A wireless message received late today from Commander McNamee of the Sacramento, stated that the Sacramento was steaming only four knots an hour against a strong northwest wind and probably would reach the mouth of the Mississippi river during the night. In that event it was expected the Brazilian minister and party would reach this city about 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Some apprehension concerning the Sacramento was felt in shipping circles here tonight owing to reports that the tropical storm was moving northwest and late today was about 150 miles from the mouth of the Mississippi. Should the vessel encounter the storm it was thought she would find great difficulty in getting over the bar, and that her arrival here might be still further delayed.

Leon J. Canova of the state department, who will act as the special representative of the United States government in welcoming Mr. Cardoso to this country, arrived here today. Accompanying him is the visiting diplomat will be met at the pier by Mr. Canova and officers of the naval station and Jackson barracks, representing the federal government; by Governor Hall and staff and a detachment of the naval militia, representing the state of Louisiana, and by Mayor Behrman, city officials and prominent citizens on behalf of New Orleans.

Among other features of entertainment planned are a luncheon for the Brazilian minister given by Mayor Behrman and a dinner in the evening at which Mr. Cardoso will be the honor guest, given by Governor Hall. Arrangements have been made for Mr. Cardoso and family to depart for Washington tomorrow night should the Sacramento experience no further delay.

Dr. Juan J. Ortega, the minister from Guatemala to Mexico, who was expelled from the southern republic by General Carranza, also is aboard the Sacramento, accompanied by his daughter.

Man's Life Saved by Loss of Ticket for Eastland Trip

Two Wacoans, J. A. Goldberg, millinery manager for Goldstein-Miguel company, and W. C. Duncan of the Texas Power & Light company, have been in Chicago and have seen the ill-fated Eastland, and F. L. Booth, local manager of the Texas Power & Light company, has received a letter from his sister in Chicago, telling him of how she, accidentally, saved one man from taking the trip.

Mr. Booth's sister was walking down the street the day before the Eastland disaster and picked up a pocketbook on the sidewalk. She opened it, found a ticket for the Eastland trip, $15 in money and the owner's name and address, so immediately dropped him a note, telling him that she could have the pocketbook by identifying himself.

The day after the boat sank the man appeared and told her that she could keep the $15; that when he found he had lost his ticket and the money he had intended to spend on the trip he decided not to go. He had just heard that the ship had gone under, he said, when he received her note telling him that she had found the pocketbook.

BRITISH WRITERS ARE STILL PENNING SPORT

WALLOP AMERICAN ATHLETICS OCCASIONALLY, ESPECIALLY PROFESSIONALISM.

Indication of Growth of Sports in This Country Shown by Way They Overlap.

New York, Aug. 15.—In the midst of war English writers still find time to pen epistles on sports in general and the American amateur athlete in particular. In a recent article, forecasting a healthier standard of amateur sport after the great conflict, one of the leading English dailies expresses the hope that after the war there will be no further efforts to "Americanize" British sports or to "Americanize" the Olympic games with its American "Shamateur."

"Will professionalism in athletics survive the war so far as Great Britain is concerned?" it asks. "We sincerely hope it will not. Seeing that we shall have to study thrift, collectively and individually, it would be absurd for us to go on paying men to play games for us."

It is surprising how many of our professional athletes have failed to pass the test when patriotically endeavoring to enlist. On the whole, it is to be hoped that the war will make an end of athletics for professional purposes should go to providing playing fields for the masses of our urban population.

"There should be no more sending of the hat around for the Olympic games, for revivals, or other grandiose schemes of international sport, which serves only, so far as I can see, to help the American super-specialist, a 'Shamateur' more often than not."

"Let us, then, remain a nation of athletes, but sternly refusing to pay or even praise the super-athlete for cultivating useless agility and an abnormal physique."

Seasons Overlap.

An indication of the growth of sport in this country is found in the manner in which the seasons overlap. Within a month the first football games of 1915 will be underway with the pennant races in the major leagues still several weeks from completion. By the time the last contest of the world's series has been settled the gridiron teams of the larger universities will be facing opponents who secretly cherish the idea that they are about to upset all football traditions by racing through and around the big fellows' lines for double figure scores.

Hartel Quite Baseball.

Fred (Topsy) Hartel, veteran outfielder, has bid adieu to baseball. He has returned to his home in Toledo after turning in his Fort Wayne, Central league, uniform and announcing that his diamond career was at an end. Hartel began playing professional ball in 1897, passing in turn through the minor, major and back to the minor leagues again during the war.

Two Out On One Throw.

Entry in Tennis Tourney.

The entry list for the National Lawn Tennis championship close on Friday and the announcement of the players who will compete for the racquet titles at Forest Hills, L. I., two weeks from tomorrow is being awaited with interest by the followers of the court game. Notwithstanding the entry restrictions imposed by the U. S. N. Y. L. T. A. this season, it is thought that the field will be larger than any of the lists received for the Newport tournaments of recent years.

Ness' Remarkable Feat.

Some remarkable statistics have been compiled in connection with the record made by Jack Ness of the Oakland club of the Pacific Coast league, in securing a hit in forty-nine consecutive hits games. Ness started his string of hits, which eventually displaced the record held by Ty Cobb, on May 21, and during that period the giant Oakland first baseman went to bat 184 times scoring 36 runs and 81 hits, including 12 two-baggers, 3 three-baggers and 6 home runs. His total number of bases was 118 for 49 games and his batting average for the same period .440.

trunk that proves a bit too much for him, and goes scouting for his man, Ima Simp. He finds Ima suspended from a hook in a spare closet and detaches him. Ima then throws a flash of remarkable talent for the express business in the unstudied carelessness of his trunk-smashing. Obediah Simp then goes through his morning's mail, and being nothing to not thorough, through everybody else's. He is dumfounded to find a communication addressed to his maid, Marie Sparricks, advising her that she has fallen heir to $50,000 which is being sent on. Reggie Martin, Obediah's son, breezing in from college, is assisted by his father of Marie's good fortune, with the expressed paternal wish that Reggie make it his. Reggie shines up to Marie, who sees his little game, and decides to double-cross him. Instead of sloping with him, as per her promise, she dresses Ima in her scenery and substitutes him.
